

Antique Tea Caddy, English, Loose Leaf Canister, Mixing Glass, Regency, C.1820

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 24895

This is an antique tea caddy. An English, flame mahogany loose leaf tea container with glass mixer, dating to the Regency period, circa 1820.

- <li class="p1">Attractive Regency period caddy with fine figuring and colour
- <li class="p1">Displaying a desirable aged patina throughout
- <li class="p1">Delightfully figured stocks present superb grain interest
- <li class="p1">Graced with warm caramel hues beneath a wax polish finish

<li class="p1">Dressed to the fascia with brass lock escutcheon – in working order, key present

<li class="p1">Pair of lidded canisters sit neatly within their recess, with a mixing glass to centre

<li class="p1">Canisters in appealing original order, with clean, lightly aged linings

<li class="p1">Generously sized mixing glass in original order with minor loss to rim

<li class="p1">Decorative handles adorn each side as a visual accoutrement

Search London Fine for #24895 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 38cm (15")

Max Depth: 17cm (6.75")

Max Height: 18.5cm (7.25")

Canister Width: 7.5cm (3")

Canister Depth: 12.5cm (5")

Canister Height: 11cm (4.25")

Mixer Diameter 10.5cm (4.25")

LIST PRICE

£985.00

