

Antique Law Chambers Hall Chair, Scottish, Walnut, Reception Seat, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25025

This is an antique law chambers hall chair. A Scottish, walnut reception seat in Rococo taste, dating to the Victorian period, circa 1850.

- Striking reception hall chair, with bold Rococo overtones
- Displaying a desirable aged patina and in good order
- Walnut stocks present fine grain interest throughout
- Warm caramel hues accentuate the distinctive form
- Fascinating scroll shield back with prominent surmount
- Back rest with oval medallion and finished with an enamelled crest
- Sporting eagle wings, the scroll in Latin translating to 'Freedom through Law'
- Shaped seat squab set at a comfortable height of 43cm (17")
- Tall cabriole front legs, with relief scroll to the knee over a scrolled toe
