

Antique Gun Slip Case, English, Leather, Leg of Mutton Rifle Sleeve, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25191

This is an antique gun slip case. An English, leather leg of mutton shotgun or rifle sleeve, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900.

Superb, antique country pursuits gun case in traditional form

Displays a desirable aged patina an din good original order

Quality leather in deep caramel hues and a lightly time worn appearance

Replete with carry handle, and an adjustable shoulder strap class="p1">Case secured by a sliding brass clasp behind a protective cover strap class="p1">Dual division interior, to accommodate the stock and barrel respectively

Interior finished in a Royal Blue baize, aged commensurate with use

Embossed with the Army & Davy Stores Co-operative Society roundel

Unmarked as such, but of similar size to the 'Hurlingham' model

Search London Fine for #25191 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 8cm (3.25") Max Depth: 80.5cm (31.75") Max Height: 23cm (9")

LIST PRICE

£895.00

