

Vintage Japanese Two-Panel Privacy Screen, Art Deco, Room Divider, Circa 1940

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25148

This is a captivating Japanese two-panel privacy screen, dating to the late Art Deco period, circa 1940. This elegant mahogany room divider exudes period charm, showcasing skilled craftsmanship and traditional motifs.

<li class="p1">Striking Art Deco-era Japanese design – A refined balance of functionality and decorative artistry

<li class="p1">Two-panel folding screen – Providing a versatile and mobile privacy solution

<li class="p1">Carved Mount Fuji pediment – A superb depiction of Japan's iconic peak, adding a sense of heritage and serenity

<li class="p1">Falcon relief detailing – Embellishing the edges with symbolism of strength and freedom

<li class="p1">Quality mahogany construction – With a rich, warm tone that has aged gracefully over time

<li class="p1">Gently aged patina – Enhanced by time-worn textures, adding character and authenticity

<li class="p1">Compact and practical – Ideal for use as a room divider, dressing screen, or decorative accent

+44 (0) 207 1833 511

<li class="p1">Displays light signs of joyous use, with some light staining and wear

<li class="p1">Stands well, with smooth folding action and no loose joints

Search London Fine for #25148 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 152cm (59.75")

Max Depth: 3cm (1.25")

Max Height: 180.5cm (71")

LIST PRICE

£895.00

London Fine Ltd

The Antique Village

The Old Whiteways Cider Factory

Hele, Devon, EX5 4PW

sales@londonfine.co.uk

E. & O. E.