

Antique Shooting Lodge Dinner Gong, Victorian, Scottish Brass Chime, Oak, C.1880

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25223

This is a distinguished late Victorian dinner gong, evoking the grandeur of a Scottish Highland country estate, circa 1880. This superb antique chime features a brass deer's head mount, antler supports, and a resonant gong, making it a striking porch or dining room statement piece.

- class="p1">Authentic shooting lodge dinner gong, rich with Highland country house character
- class="p1">Displays beautifully with Victorian sporting elegance and refined craftsmanship
- Brass deer's head trophy mount, finely cast with superb detailing
- Ornamental antlers, supporting the gong with traditional leather straps
- Substantial brass gong, producing a deep, resonant chime
- Cork-topped striker, designed for a clear, reverberating tone
- cli class="p1">Handsome oak backing, complementing the warm patina of the brass

This is a superb antique shoot lodge gong, perfect for collectors of country house antiques lovers of sporting heritage or those seeking a unique decorative accept for

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 25cm (9.75")
Max Depth: 13cm (5")
Max Height: 47cm (18.5")
Gong Diameter: 25cm (9.75")
Mount Diameter: 20cm (7.75")
Striker Diameter Width: 6cm (2.25")
Striker Diameter Height: 27cm (10.75")

their home. Delivered ready for the home.