

Antique Shotgun Carry Case, Indian Teak, Brass, Rifle Box, Victorian, Circa 1900

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25291

This is a fine antique shotgun carry case. An Indian State Railway gun box in teak and brass, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. Rich with historic charm and superb craftsmanship, this case offers both practical storage and remarkable decorative appeal.

- Of superb historical interest, featuring an engraved brass plaque for the Indian State Railway
- Crafted from select teak stocks, showing deep grain character and rich caramel hues
- Dark green lined interior, ideal for storing a period example or displaying sporting memorabilia
- Dressed with quality brass corner caps and lid edges, enhancing both protection and aesthetics
- Stout brass handle with a tactile, chamfered finish, comfortable and pleasing in the hand
- Displays desirable signs of age, with a lightly time-worn patina and great colour throughout
- A rare find with connections to colonial India and Victorian hunting culture

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 82cm (32.25")
Max Depth: 22.5cm (8.75")
Max Height: 9.5cm (3.75")

LIST PRICE

£795.00

This is a wonderful antique collector's piece with strong display potential. This Victorian rifle box is a fine example of those with an appreciation for historical objects or colonial-era memorabilia. Solid joints and construction, delicate brasswork, and a rich patina make this a truly remarkable find. Search London Fine for #25291, or scan the QR code for more photos and details.

sales@londonfine.co.uk
E. & O. E.

The Antique Village
The Old Whiteways Cider Factory
Hele, Devon, EX5 4PW