

Antique Somerset Map, Thomas Kitchin, English, Cartographic Reference, Georgian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25208

This is a fine antique Somerset map. An 18th century English cartographic county reference engraving by Thomas Kitchin (1718–1784), dating to the Georgian period, circa 1780. A beautifully detailed piece of cartographic history, offering charm and educational value in equal measure.

- Fascinating county map of Somerset, in the South West of England, steeped in historical significance

- Created by renowned British cartographer Thomas Kitchin, famed for his detailed copperplate engravings

- Features fine period detail, with towns, estates, and roads clearly annotated throughout

- Includes a map key to the upper left and scale marker in English Miles to the lower right

- Presented behind a clear glass pane, preserving the paper and enhancing visual clarity

- Mounted within a tasteful gilt-finished frame, complementing both classic and contemporary interiors

- Dressed to the rear with braided hanging cord for immediate and secure wall display

- A desirable piece for map collectors, local historians, and interior styling

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 41.5cm (16.25")

Max Depth: 1.5cm (.5")

Max Height: 35cm (13.75")

Map Width: 25.5cm (10")

Map Height: 19cm (7.5")

LIST PRICE

£495.00

