

Antique Three Decanter Tantalus, English, Oak, Drinks Caddy, Edwardian, C.1910

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25221

This is a distinguished antique three bottle Tantalus. An English, oak and silver plated drinks caddy with a trio of cut glass decanters, dating to the late Edwardian period, circa 1910. A fine prize-given example, offering refined decorative appeal and functionality for the discerning collector or connoisseur.

<li class="p1">Quality oak frame, displaying fine grain interest and rich caramel hues throughout

<li class="p1">Silver plated cappings and a tactile, rolled carry handle accentuate the form

<li class="p1">Trio of cut glass decanters, each with diamond cut finish and bright, clear appearance

<li class="p1">Decanters nest securely on a baize-lined platform, each seated within its own division

<li class="p1">Substantial faceted ball stoppers rest snugly within flared rims

<li class="p1">Stout construction, combining decorative elegance with practical storage for fine spirits

<li class="p1">Personalised plaque to fascia engraved as a 1st place prize for a Naval obstacle race in 1912

<li class="p1">A handsome addition to any drinks cabinet, bar or larder

<li class="p1">The rear with a circular lock escutcheon

<li class="p1">A handsome addition to any drinks cabinet, bar or larder

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 36.5cm (14.25")

Max Depth: 13.5cm (5.25")

Max Height: 33.5cm (13.25")

Decanter Width: 8.5cm (3.25")

Decanter Depth: 8.5cm (3.25")

Decanter Height: 22cm (8.75")

LIST PRICE

£1,195.00

44 (0) 207 1833 511

London Fine Ltd

The Old Whiteways Cider Factory
Hele, Devon, EX5 4PW

sales@londonfine.co.uk

E. & O. E.