

Vintage Folding Veranda Chair, Oriental, Teak Campaign Seat, Art Deco, C.1930

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25420

This is a striking vintage folding veranda chair. An Oriental, teak campaign seat with distinctive brass embellishment, dating to the Art Deco period, circa 1930. Rich in character and craftsmanship, this chair is a superb statement of form and function.

- Teak stocks display fine grain interest with deep russet hues and pleasing tactile finish
- Unusual folding design, featuring a concertina seat squab for flexible placement and compact storage
- Open back rest with a central upright, dressed with pierced fretwork for decorative lightness
- Brass strapping enhances the back splat, offering contrast and ornamental appeal
- Raised upon classic x-frame legs, united by an elegant fold-over foot rest
- Chased brass inlay to the foot rest forms an intricate diamond motif, adding Eastern influence
- Folds neatly for verandas, campaign interiors, or as a sculptural occasional seat
