

Antique Poetry Book, The Lady Of The Lake, Walter Scott, Early Edition, Georgian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25360

This is an antique copy of The Lady of the Lake, the celebrated narrative poem by Sir Walter Scott, published in 1811, a year after the initial release. A leather-bound volume, illustrated with works by Richard Westall RA and Richard Cook, this Georgian example offers a handsome addition to any discerning collection of literary antiques.

- Illustrated antique poetry book, in intact original order with charming aged markings
- Bound in rich leather over board, enhanced with gilt titling and a ribbed spine
- Published in 1811, a desirable early printing of one of Scott's most enduring works
- Includes a suite of finely engraved plates, after Richard Westall RA and Richard Cook
- Published across 433 pages, printed in a classic serif type
- Wonderfully tactile and well-suited to a period desk, reading room or library display

A distinguished and decorative copy of a cornerstone of Romantic poetry, this edition of The Lady of the Lake will appeal to collectors of early 19th-century literature and illustrated antique books alike. Delivered ready to enjoy.
