

Low Antique Salon Chair, English, Nursing Seat, Aesthetic Movement, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25412

This is a charmingly low antique salon chair. An English, upholstered nursing seat crafted in the Aesthetic movement taste, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1880. Elegantly upholstered and of delightful form, this chair offers relaxed comfort and timeless decorative appeal.

- Attractive, low nursing seat, ideal for a salon, bedroom, or refined reading nook
- Later professional reupholstering in a tasteful, crosshatch wreath pattern fabric
- Soft and tactile silk cotton upholstery, finished with complementary brocade trim
- Some light wear to upper edge commensurate with gentle use
- Inset winged back rest with a central cushioned fillet, adding support and texture
- Wide, well-padded seat set at a comfortable height of 36cm (14.25"), perfect for relaxation
  - Raised upon ebonised legs with fine gilt accentuated fluting, a mark of quality craftsmanship
  - Moves with ease on a set of four smooth-running castors
