

Antique Campaign Tea Table, Anglo Indian Teak, Folding, Serving, Victorian, 1900

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25460

This is an antique campaign tea table. An Anglo-Indian, relief carved teak folding table of octagonal form, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. Profusely detailed and highly practical, this charming piece offers elegant utility with exotic appeal.

- Striking Anglo-Indian campaign table, ideal for afternoon tea or decorative display
- Crafted from solid teak, presenting rich caramel hues and exceptional grain interest
- Folding form for ease of storage and portability, suited to occasional use
- Relief carved throughout, showcasing expert craftsmanship and tactile depth
- Bold octagonal top, carved with a central flowerhead medallion
- Radiating grapevine motif issues from the centre, creating visual harmony
- Each of the eight fascia panels adorned with repeating grape and leaf patterns
- Raised upon a collapsible base with pierced brackets and turned supports
- Displays beautifully in a drawing room, garden room or conservatory setting

Search London Fine for #25460 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 53cm (20.75")
 Max Depth: 53cm (20.75")
 Max Height: 55.5cm (21.75")

LIST PRICE

£1,295.00

