

Antique Fire Screen, French, Copper, Fireplace Reflector, Art Nouveau, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25407

This is an antique fire screen. A French fireplace reflector in embossed copper and wrought iron, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. A superb decorative piece, in the Art Nouveau taste with its flowing lines and floral motifs.

- Striking Art Nouveau aesthetic, showcasing the movement's hallmark serpentine forms and organic detailing
- Embossed copper panel with deep relief, presenting floral and foliate motifs in a bold, tactile finish
- Quality wrought iron frame in rich, deep black tones – beautifully complementing the warmth of the copper
- Distinctive twin pairs of splayed bracket feet, offering stability and a sculptural stance
- Ideal for fireplace dressing, or as a decorative accent in hearth, hallway, or living room
- Lightly time-worn, in good original order with appealing patina throughout

An impressive and artistic antique fire screen, sure to enhance both period interiors and contemporary spaces with its refined craftsmanship and ornamental impact. A fine addition to any Art Nouveau collection or country house fireplace. Delivered ready for the home.

Call (0) 207 1833 511

Search London Fine for #25407, or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 63cm (24.75")

Max Depth: 20.5cm (8")

Max Height: 85cm (33.5")

