

Pair of Antique Ornate Bookends, Anglo-Indian Beech, Book Rests, Victorian, 1900

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25462

This is a pair of antique ornate bookends. An Anglo-Indian, carved beech book rest, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. Displaying exceptional decorative appeal and fine craftsmanship, they make for a distinctive addition to the bookcase or mantelpiece.

- Striking Anglo-Indian craftsmanship with rich decorative detail throughout
- Sculpted from quality beech, showing deep caramel tones and attractive grain pattern
- Demi-lune form with bold presence and architectural overtones
- Decorated with pierced quatrefoil motifs and central fretwork patera
- Surrounding fascia embellished with chased foliate detailing and a charming flowerhead border
- Offered in fine order, with lightly timeworn finish commensurate with age
- Dressed to the base with protective cushion pads for stable display

A distinctive and characterful pair, these antique bookends showcase rich cultural influence and ornate Victorian styling. Ideal for the collector of Anglo-Indian pieces or those seeking an elegant, historic flourish for the home or library. Delivered ready for the home.
