

Antique Stick Stand, English Oak, Reception Hall, Arts & Crafts, Victorian, 1900

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25538

This is a fine antique stick stand. An English, golden oak cane or umbrella rack in Arts & Crafts taste, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. With its striking colour, heart motif and elegant form, this stand brings character and utility to the reception hall.

- Appealing late Victorian umbrella stand with charming Arts & Crafts styling
- Crafted from quality golden oak, displaying superb grain interest and vibrant caramel hues
- Distinctive tapering silhouette accentuated by serpentine apron and shaped handles
- Heart-shaped piercings to the side staves provide delightful decorative interest
- Stands confidently upon a pair of broad trestle feet, offering excellent stability
- Ideal for walking canes, umbrellas or riding crops in the refined hallway or vestibule

A particularly engaging example of Arts & Crafts design, this antique stick stand combines functionality with romantic styling – a fine addition to any period entrance hall. Solid joints and construction, delivered ready for the home.
