

Vintage 3-Draw Telescope, English, Navigation, Astrological, Broadhurst Clarkson

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25405

This is a vintage 3-draw telescope. An English, leather and brass navigational or astronomical instrument, dating to the early 20th century, circa 1930.

- Fine example of British optical craftsmanship from a noted London maker
- Crafted in polished brass, with a three-draw barrel configuration
- Light wear to the brass surfaces in keeping with age
- Primary barrel dressed in brown leather, adding tactile charm and grip
- Leather jacket fitted with a carry strap, linking a pair of protective dust cups
- Rear draw engraved 'Nelson - 20x' by Broadhurst Clarkson & Co, London
- Smooth draw action with bright optics - ideal for display or occasional use
- Suitable for collectors of vintage nautical instruments, desk décor or library display

An appealing vintage field telescope with both historic merit and visual appeal, this Broadhurst Clarkson example captures the spirit of early 20th century exploration and optical precision. Delivered ready for the collector.

Search London Fine for #25405 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Closed Length: 23cm (9")

Fully Drawn: 51.5cm (20.25")

Objective Diameter: 3.5cm (1.5")

Find out more about Broadhurst Clarkson & Co here...

LIST PRICE

£895.00

