DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25526
This is an antique silver display table. An English, mahogany tilt-top occasional table, dating to the Georgian period, circa 1800.

- Superb Georgian craftsmanship, with a desirable pie crust edge to the table top
- Top crafted from a single select piece of mahogany, showcasing beautiful figuring
- Displays rich caramel hues with fine grain interest throughout
- Presented with a gently time worn patina from decades of gentle use
- Elegant tilt-top mechanism held securely with a traditional sliding clasp
- Raised upon a turned and collared support column, offering graceful form with twist gadrooning
- Standing confidently on a trio of cabriole legs, each terminating in classic egg and talon feet
- A versatile piece, ideal as a silver display stand, aperitif table, or reception hall feature

This exceptional Georgian tilt-top table delivers timeless appeal with fine detailing and enduring elegance. A wonderful addition to the refined interior, ready to elevate any silverware or decorative collection. Solid joints and construction, delivered ready for the home.
