

Antique Schoolmaster's Bell, English, Silver Plate, Coromandel Handle, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25558

This is an antique schoolmaster's bell, An English, silver plated hand bell with a turned coromandel handle, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. A fine example of Victorian craftsmanship, this bell offers both decorative appeal and practical resonance.

- Elegant Victorian school bell, dating to the late 19th century
- Crafted from silver plate on steel, offering bright tonality and durability
- Bold ring with suspended clapper on chain, producing a clear sound
- Turned coromandel handle, tactile in the hand with rich dark hues
- Handle topped with a silver plated finial for added refinement
- Engraved monogram adorns the bell fascia with decorative flourish
- Presented in good antique order, lightly aged with gentle character

A charming piece of late Victorian silver plate, this antique hand bell is ideal for collectors, display, or period-style interiors. Delivered ready for the home or institution.

Search London Fine for #25558 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

- Max Width: 9cm (3.5")
- Max Depth: 9cm (3.5")
- Max Height: 19.5cm (7.75")

