

Antique Sarcophagus Tea Caddy, English, Loose Leaf Case, William IV, Circa 1835

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25515

This is an antique sarcophagus tea caddy. An English, rosewood loose leaf tea case dating to the William IV period, circa 1835. A beautifully proportioned piece with fine detailing, rich tones and elegant Georgian revival design.

- Delightful William IV period sarcophagus tea caddy, circa 1835
- Select rosewood casework displays striking grain interest and deep caramel hues
- Satinwood stringing provides light contrast, enhancing the bold outline
- Opens to reveal two lidded tea compartments with a central mixer recess

- Interior resplendent with scarlet red velvet lining for a luxurious finish
- Each lid fitted with a circular bone pull, typical of the period style
- Mix recess accepts glass tumbler up to 10cm (4") in diameter

• Fascia inset with a diamond-shaped escutcheon, housing a traditional lock – key present

- Sides dressed with circular drop handles over decorative fruit basket backplates

Search London Fine for #25515 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 30.5cm (12")

Max Depth: 15.5cm (6")

Max Height: 21cm (8.25")

LIST PRICE

£895.00

