

Small Antique 3 Draw Telescope, English, Brass, Terrestrial Spyglass, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25471

This is a small antique three draw telescope. An English, brass terrestrial spyglass, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. Compact yet elegant, this diminutive instrument offers both collectible appeal and period character.

Perfect for bird watching, landscape appreciation, wildlife, or maritime observation. Equally suitable for observing the night sky.

- Charmingly diminutive proportions, ideal for display or travel ephemera collections
- Polished brass barrels with bright golden tonality and attractive patina
- Primary barrel dressed with a later leather cover
- Removable brass dust cap secures the primary objective when not in use

- Clear, bright primary objective with a 20mm lens diameter
- Supplied with a black leather carry case, adding to its authenticity and portability
- Further supplied with a London Fine oak and brass 'Captain's Stand' for display
 - A fine example of a Victorian era spyglass, perfect for collectors of maritime or optical instruments
