

Pair of Antique Hall Chairs, Scottish, Oak, Reception Seats, Regency, Circa 1830

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25707

This is a fine pair of antique hall chairs. A Scottish, golden oak reception seat, dating to the late Regency period, circa 1830. Striking in form and colour, these fine chairs offer superb craftsmanship and elegant presence.

- class="p1">Delightful Regency period pair, perfect for the reception hall or entranceway
- class="p1">Scottish oak stocks display rich golden hues and superb grain interest, accentuated with wisps of medullary rays
- class="p1">Displays a warm, golden caramel tone and lightly aged patina consistent with period character
- class="p1">Distinctive arched crest rail rises proudly above the shaped back rest
- class="p1">Adorned with a fascinating fretwork frieze, imparting Gothic revival overtones to the design
- class="p1">Wide seat squab set at a comfortable height of 44cm (17.25"), offering practicality alongside aesthetic appeal
- li class="p1">Turned and tapered front legs provide elegance and strength to the stance
 Li class="p1">Rear legs sweep gracefully outward, uniting balance and refinement

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 43.5cm (17.25") Max Depth: 44cm (17.25") Max Height: 92cm (36.25") Seat Width: 43.5cm (17.25") Seat Depth: 36cm (14.25") Seat Height: 44cm (17.25")

LIST PRICE

£1,850.00

*444(0)0207a1837e15111 pair of Scottish hall chairs, them done Finge had seats exemplify refined craftsmanship and are perfectl ... The Antique Village

Search London Fine for #25707 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details PW