

Antique Equestrian Yard Hanging Shield, Scottish, Pine, Tack Plaque, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25786

This is an antique equestrian yard master's hanging shield. A Scottish, pitch pine and cast iron tack mounting plaque, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. A charmingly practical piece, perfectly suited to a stable block, tack room or country-house equestrian setting.

- Displays a desirable, time-worn patina, enhancing its stable yard character
- Pitch pine plinth presents fine grain interest with warm caramel hues throughout
- Trio of cast iron mounts, evocative of miniature saddle racks, offering robust hanging points
  - Ideal proportions for riding crops, yard keys or small tack items, maintaining an authentic equestrian aesthetic
  - Shield form adds decorative appeal while remaining highly functional
  - Dressed with a pair of brass mounting loops for ease of hanging

A delightful late Victorian tack mounting shield, offering both utility and period charm for any equestrian environment. Delivered ready to mount.

Search London Fine for #25786 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 31.5cm (12.5")

Max Depth: 8.5cm (3.25")

Max Height: 46cm (18")

LIST PRICE

£725.00

