

Large Antique Trunk Case, English, Leather, Suitcase, Shop Display, Edwardian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25705

This is a large antique trunk case. An English, leather steamer or shop display suitcase, dating to the Edwardian period, circa 1910. A wonderfully charismatic example of early 20th century travel goods, boasting superb proportion and visual presence.

- Impressive Edwardian travel trunk with superb character and distinction
- Displays a desirably patinated, time-worn appearance throughout
- Quality tanned leather offers warm caramel hues and appealing texture
  - Robust construction with oak staves to the base, copper rivets and leather corner cappings

- Lid bears the name of a former owner, V. E. Sturgess, with other details redacted
- The top ably secured by a pair of long leather straps and a central sliding clasp
- Crafted in brass, the clasp slider hosts an inset lock – untested, key absent

- Interior presents pleasing cleanliness, lined in a gently aged cream canvas
- Includes a removable tray insert fitted with quality leather carry straps

Search London Fine for #25705 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 93cm (36.5")
 Max Depth: 31cm (12.25")
 Max Height: 50cm (19.75")
 Max Interior Width: 86.5cm (34")
 Max Interior Depth: 43cm (17")
 Max Interior Height: 26.5cm (10.5")

LIST PRICE

£695.00

