

Pair of Antique Duck Pictures, Framed Wildlife Art Prints, Lithograph, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25829

This is a pair of antique duck pictures. An English, framed print of a Red Breasted Merganser and Goosander by John and Elisabeth Gould (1785 - 1851), dating to the early Victorian period, circa 1850.

- Celebrated 19th century ornithology prints in tasteful later frames
- Displaying a desirable aged patina and in good order throughout
- Observed and illustrated by husband and wife John (1804 - 1881) & Elizabeth Gould (1804 - 1840)
- Printed in period by Charles Joseph Hullmandel of Great Marlborough Street, London
- Fine print quality with great definition and hand-finished colour
- Dressed to the rear with hanging wire for ease of mounting

This is a fascinating pair of antique duck pictures, offering fine quality printing and appealing, hand-applied colour. A treat for the ornithologist or those with 19th century wildlife art interest. Delivered ready to display.
