

Antique Biscuit Barrel, English, Ceramic, Silver Plate, Kitchen Jar, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25936

This is an antique biscuit barrel. An English, ceramic and silver plated kitchen counter treat jar, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900. A charming and decorative table piece, with delightful colour and practical appeal for the serving of biscuits or confectionery.

- A delightful addition to the kitchen or tea table
- Displays a gently time-worn patina from careful use
- Crafted in quality painted ceramic with a superb colour palette
- Interior finished in pleasingly clean white ceramic, ready for use
- Ideal for biscuits, sweets or countertop storage
- Fine detail throughout with eye-catching and cheerful decorative appeal
- Exterior adorned with colourful bird and butterfly decoration
- The charming nature decor set against a light blue ground
- Fitted with a silver plated lid, engraved with delicate pattern

Search London Fine for #25936 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 17cm (6.75")
 Max Depth: 17cm (6.75")
 Max Height: 19cm (7.5")
 Barrel Interior Diameter: 10.5cm (4.25")
 Barrel Interior Height: 10.5cm (4.25")

LIST PRICE

£595.00

