

Antique Tea Ceremony Gong, Oriental, Carved Stand, Brass Bell, Edwardian, C.1910

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 25975

This is an antique tea ceremony gong. An Oriental, carved mahogany stand with brass bell, dating to the Edwardian period, circa 1910. A beautifully decorative and sonorous piece, combining intricate carving with a bright, resonant tone.

- A charming Oriental gong with striking visual and aural appeal
- Displays a desirable aged patina throughout
- Profusely carved mahogany stand with pierced fretwork detail
- Stand finished in deep russet hues with appealing grain interest
- Pleasingly hand carved and accentuated with gilt detail
- Substantial brass bell suspended within the frame
- Bell adorned with a dragon motif in cast relief
- Tactile striker with waxed leather shaft
- Finished with an amber cut glass handle accent
- Striker rests neatly upon a pair of brass supports atop the frame

Search London Fine for #25975 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

- Max Width: 35.5cm (14")
- Max Depth: 27cm (10.75")
- Max Height: 53.5cm (21")
- Striker Diameter: 5.5cm (2.25")
- Striker Length: 36cm (14.25")

LIST PRICE

£975.00

