

Antique Triple Wardrobe, Scottish, Oak, Compactum, Victorian, Circa 1870

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.5963

This is an antique triple wardrobe. A Scottish, oak and burr walnut compactum dating to the mid-Victorian period of the 19th century, circa 1870.

- Superior cuts of oak and burr walnut enchant with rich caramel hues and fine grain interest
- Displays wonderfully with good consistent colour and a desirable aged patina
- Original mirror plate with bevelled edge and light foxing commensurate with age
- Of country house proportion and impressive scale at 7'5" high x 6' wide (230cm x 183cm)
- A pair of finials upon a crown moulding featuring dentil moulding and inlays
- A trio of elaborately carved field panels display foliate and lion motif
- Four larger field panels resplendent in quarter book-matched burr walnut situated either side of the mirror plate
- Brass lock escutcheons to each door with drop handles, key present
- Central door opens to reveal a hat shelf over a pair of linen slides, with triple chest of drawers under
- Brass hanging rails with adjustable hooks to each side
- Behind the mirrored door, three shelves above a suite of three drawers, with brass handles

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 183cm (72")
Max Depth: 55cm (21.75")
Max Height: 230cm (90.5")

