

Large Antique Sideboard Buffet, Victorian c.1880

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 10.1021

This is a large antique sideboard, Victorian buffet presented in excellent antique condition, circa 1880.

Robustly and beautifully constructed in light oak, this substantial piece belies its age and has a contemporary feel well suited to a grand dining room, coffee shop, boutique hotel or restaurant.

The generous surface sits atop two cupboards and a central drawer. The locking field panel doors are flanked by chamfered pilasters with stop ends and conceal voluminous storage conveniently organised by three drawers of varying sizes in each cupboard. The large central drawer provides additional space for cutlery and sits above a swagged carved arch.

Subtly figured, the honey coloured oak is decorated in simple form with wild berry relief carving and repeated arch detail. Both the field panels and drawer panel are lifted further by use of English burr oak. The balance of geometry and natural form, along with the break front design, reins in the scale of the piece pleasing the eye without being unnecessarily fussy.

Mounted on castors and shaped to sit around a large skirting board flush to the wall, this piece is of superb quality, a stunning piece presented in ex ...
