

Victorian Nursing Chair

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # LFA-1164 This is an antique Victorian nursing chair dating to c.1850. The well figured walnut frame is beautifully formed with swept rear side rails modestly decorated with acanthus leaf carving. The serpentine front seat rail features a stylised, asymmetric motif and unites the splayed cabriole front legs with carved scrolled knees and toes. Riding upon the original brass castors the traditionally stuffed seat is covered in a needlepoint tapestry of flora and foliage on a rich ruby red backdrop. There is a repair to the front of the seat pad, please see the photos. Delivered ready for use in the home, a classic example of Victorian luxury.
