

Antique Aneroid Barometer, English, Winstanley of Wigan, Oak, Banjo, Temperature

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.5702

This is an antique aneroid barometer. An English, Winstanley of Wigan, oak banjo barometer with temperature scale dating to the late 19th century, circa 1880.

- Attractive banjo barometer by Winstanley of Wigan
- Select oak displays a desirable aged patina
- Rich caramel hues throughout with a fine grain interest
- Bright, clear instrument glass in very good order
- Foliate detail to the double scroll pediment, sitting above a temperature scale
- Mercury-filled scale displays in Fahrenheit and Centigrade
- Generously proportioned aneroid barometer, face diameter 19cm (7.5")
- Highly decorative, red and black conditions annotations over ceramic face
- Second pointer can be set to display the change in conditions

Search London Fine for #18.5702 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 27cm (10.75")

Max Depth: 8.5cm (3.25")

Max Height: 88cm (34.75")

Find out more about Winstanley of Wigan here...

