

Antique Cartographer's Instrument Set, English, Surveyor's Tool Case, Circa 1920

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.6787

This is an antique cartographer's instrument set. An English, silver nickel surveyor's tool case, dating to the early 20th century, circa 1920.

- An attractive early 20th century set
- Displays a desirable aged patina
- Silver nickel instruments in good order with some wear commensurate with age
- Presented within a deep brown textured carry case with unused name plate
- The 11 pieces encased within a rich blue velvet beneath a silk lid interior
- Pair of compass joined by a trio of spring bow compass
- Accessories include an extending beam and spare graphite tip
- Ruling pen engraved 'Foreign' typical of imported early sets - most likely of German origin

This is an attractive and collectible antique cartographer's instrument set. Sure to be a delight for the collector or hobbyist, this set is presented within an appealing carry case. Delivered polished and ready for the desk.

Search London Fine for #18.6787, or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 21cm (8.25")
Max Depth: 10.5cm (4.25")
Max Height: 2.5cm (1")

LIST PRICE

£265.00

