

Antique Decorative Tea Urn, English, Silver Plate, Teapot, Edwardian, Circa 1910

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.7304

This is an antique decorative tea urn. An English, silver plated teapot, dating to the Edwardian period, circa 1910.

- Elegant tea urn with pleasingly bright finish - lovingly worn through the plate from decades of buffing
- Displaying a desirable aged patina with light, natural tarnish commensurate with age
- Quality, Sheffield silver plate has a clear, bright reflective shine
- Hallmarks to base with the initials for John Turton & Co, Sheffield
- Delightful buttercup pull to lid with detailed petals and leaves
- Tall, globular body with ornate scrolled foliate motif and subtle golden colouration
- Serpentine handle with graceful scroll ends and ivorine inlay opposite a dashing spout
- Raised upon a tiered cylindrical base

This is an attractive antique decorative tea urn. A superb Edwardian example to brighten afternoon tea. Delivered polished and ready to serve.

Search London Fine for #18.7304, or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 23cm (9")

Max Depth: 13cm (5")

Max Height: 24.5cm (9.75")

