DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.7202

This is an antique fold over games table. An English, Rosewood chess and card table, dating to the Regency period, circa 1820.

- Striking finish will add a touch of élan to games night
- Displays a desirable aged patina and in very good order
- Select Rosewood presents superb grain interest and deep caramel hues
- Dressed with quality emerald green baize and needlepoint tapestry
- Compact form when folded, with a suite of drawers and a concealed surprise
- Arranged as a full-width drawer above a deep under drawer, ideal for game pieces
- Upper drawer dressed with a small brass lock escutcheon and working lock — key present

present

- Rotating the folding top through 90 degrees reveals a playing card recess
- Folding outwards upon brass hinges, the oval baize presents beautifully
- Hidden chess board located between each drawer with a blind pull
- Rosewood and satinwood chequers offer an attractive contrast
