Our Stock # 10.1311

This is an antique, Edwardian glazed corner cabinet dating to c.1910.

Beautifully made in a Georgian revival style, this example is taller than most at 223cm (87.75") tall. The mahogany exhibits a lustrous shine and good colour throughout. The piece is raised on bracket feet and topped with a dentil frieze to the crown moulding.

The upper, display cabinet features a classic, 13 pane, astragal glazed door with original glass, swinging on three quality brass hinges. The working lock and key open the door to reveal three, serpentine fronted shelves within.

The lower cabinet provides a single shelf within and the door has a shaped field panel with working lock and key.

In super condition and offering generous storage this cabinet is delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
