

Antique Neo Cyclostyle Printing Machine, Duplicating Apparatus, Victorian, 1890

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.7824

This is an antique Neo-Cyclostyle printing machine. An English, oak cased duplicating apparatus, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1890.

- Fascinatingly complete Victorian machine for duplicating documents or contracts
- Displays a desirable aged patina commensurate with age and use
- Select oak box presents fine grain interest and rich caramel hues
 - Thorough corporate branding for the Gestetner Company with proprietary accessories
- Lithograph labels to the front fascia and lid interior offer period appeal
- Upon opening the box, the inscribed duplicating plate rests above the tray
- Behind the lid interior, several examples of the specific duplicating paper
- Neo-Cyclostyle pen and two tubes of printing ink replete in original boxes
- Resting neatly within the box, the print roller with turned mahogany handle

This is a delightful antique Neo-Cyclostyle printing machine, replete with period accessories and high appeal to collectors of antique machinery or an institution. Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
