

Antique Serving Tray, English, Breakfast, Afternoon Tea, Victorian, Circa 1870

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.7899

This is an antique butler's serving tray. An English, mahogany and brass tray, dating to the Victorian period, circa 1870.

- Present breakfast or afternoon tea with panache
- Displays a desirable aged patina - service marks to base commensurate with age
- Delightful stocks show superb grain interest
- Rich caramel hues beam beneath a wax polish finish
- Tactile cast brass handles to either end for ease of service
- Attractive scalloped edge adds a flourish to the tray over a rolled plinth base

This is an appealing antique butler's serving tray, graced with inviting figuring and beautiful colour. Delivered waxed, polished and ready to serve.

Search London Fine for #18.7899 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 51.5cm (20.25")
Max Depth: 38.5cm (15.25")
Max Height: 6.5cm (2.5")
Tray Width: 49cm (19.25")
Tray Depth: 36cm (14.25")
Tray Height: 3cm (1.25")

