

Large Antique Jam Preserving Pan, English, Heavy Bronze, Cooking Pot, Georgian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.7964

This is a large antique jam preserving pan. An English, heavy bronze cooking pot, dating to the late Georgian period, circa 1800.

- Impressively sized preserving pan from the Georgian period
- Displaying a desirable aged patina and in good order
- Bronze shows a deep brown finish to the exterior
- Highly polished pan interior dazzles with golden hues
- Wide, fixed iron loop handle bound with rivets to the deep sides
- Pleasingly heavy at a weight of 7.53kg (16.6 lb)

This is a generously sized antique preserving pan, with a striking polished interior. As useful today as it was over 200 years ago. Delivered polished and ready for the kitchen or display.

Search London Fine for #18.7964 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 38cm (15")
Max Depth: 37cm (14.5")
Max Height: 38.5cm (15.25")
Pan Interior Width: 35cm (13.75")
Pan Interior Depth: 35cm (13.75")
Pan Interior Height: 18cm (7")

