

Antique Marquetry Elbow Chair, Dutch, Beech, Fruitwood, Carver, Georgian, C.1800

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.8040

This is an antique marquetry elbow chair. A Dutch, beech and fruitwood carver, dating to the Georgian period, circa 1800.

- Embodies the sinuous, inlaid splendour of late 18th century Dutch craftsmanship
- Displaying a desirable aged patina and in good order
- Fruitwood and Beech show fine grain interest
- Rich ember hues present in the stocks and the later upholstered cushion
- Arched top rail crowned with a scrolled back rest
- Typical of this period, the vase splat decorated with inlaid foliate detail
- Serpentine beech arms narrow at the rounded knuckle, with swept supports
- Drop-in seat with quality velour upholstery, issuing a flowerhead pattern
- Lower frame rail graced with a repeat of the inlaid marquetry for a highly decorative touch

- Broad knees cascade into pleasingly thick cabriole legs, terminating into pad feet
- Rear legs gently splayed, following the profile of the raked back rest

Search London Fine for #18.8040 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 55.5cm (21.75")
Max Depth: 55.5cm (21.75")
Max Height: 101cm (39.75")
Seat Width: 44cm (17.25")
Seat Depth: 40.5cm (16")
Seat Height: 45.5cm (18")

LIST PRICE

£985.00

