

Vintage Dental Engineer's Specimen Drawers, English, Admindex, Filing Cabinet

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.8734

This is a vintage dental engineer's specimen drawers. An English, enamelled steel Admindex filing cabinet, dating to the mid 20th century, circa 1960.

- Appealing example of mid-century industrial taste, with great colour
- Displays a desirable aged patina commensurate with age and use
- Enamelled steel frame and trays finished in a wonderful light turquoise blue
- An arrangement of twelve filing drawers, each with inset label windows
- Of generous size, each drawer resides behind a fold-away front door
- Secured with a twist latch, the internal lock mechanism untested – key absent
- Maker's labels read 'Carter - Parratt LTD, London S.W.1, Eng' - specialists in index systems
- Ideal for the specimen collector or within an institution

This is a charming and fascinating mid-20th century set of vintage specimen drawers, with great industrial taste and eye-catching colour. Useful for all manner of collectibles or records. Delivered ready to serve.

Search London Fine for #18.8734, or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 27cm (10.75")
 Max Depth: 64cm (25.25")
 Max Height: 47cm (18.5")
 Extended Depth 96.5cm (38")
 Tray Width: 22cm (8.75")
 Tray Depth: 58cm (22.75")
 Tray Height: 4cm (1.5")

LIST PRICE

£895.00

