

Pair Of Antique Parallel Rulers, English, Coromandel, Draughtsman's Instrument

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.8790

This is a pair of antique parallel rulers. An English, coromandel and brass articulated draughtsman's instrument, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900.

- Charming 18" type parallel rulers, ideal for the draughtsman or cartographer
- Displaying a desirable aged patina and in good order
- Coromandel shows deep hues with flashes or warm caramel
- Brass hinges articulate in parallel, operating smoothly
- Of identical type, one marked for Stanley, Great Turnstile, London
- The marked Stanley example personalised on the fascia for a Frederick Haslam
- Further engraved with a name to each end 'JOS BOL' and 'BOLTON' opposite

This is a quality pair of antique parallel rulers, with great colour and finish. A treat for the desk top. Delivered waxed, polished and ready to enjoy.
