

Very Large Antique Museum Cabinet, English, Walnut, Holland and Sons, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.9241

This is a very large antique museum showcase. An English, walnut glazed display cabinet on ornate stand by Holland & Sons of London, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900.

- Exceptional craftsmanship evident to this large exhibition-standard showcase
- Displays a desirable aged patina and in very good order
- Select walnut stocks present fine grain interest and deep russet hues
- Glazed with superb original panels for a bright viewing experience
- Of tall trapezoid shape, with five windows casting light throughout the form
- Generously sized door to one end, dressed with two twist clasps
- Further appointed with an inset working lock – set of keys present
- Interior finished with a quality textile display base in a light golden hue
- Strikingly carved display base a visual spectacle
- Ornate carved field panels host portrait masks to each fascia
- Stout cupped and decorated legs taper to brass capped feet with inset roller ball

Search London Fine for #18.9241 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

- Max Width: 150.5cm (59.25")
- Max Depth: 82.5cm (32.5")
- Max Height: 208.5cm (82")
- Display Width: 137cm (54")
- Display Depth at Top: 30cm (11.75")
- Display Depth at Bottom: 64.5cm (25.5")
- Display Height: 117cm (46")

LIST PRICE

£12,500.00

