

Antique Library Magnifier, English, Brass, Specimen Magnifying Glass, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.9448

This is an antique library magnifier. An English, brass lepidopterists or specimen magnifying glass, dating to the early Victorian period, circa 1850.

- Of impressive size and substantial in the hand, ideal for the desktop
- Displaying a desirable aged patina and in good order
- Lightly aged brass casing with golden tones
- Quality, thick glass free of marks or damage
- Dioptic adjustment achieved by raising the glass within the outer frame

This is a delightful antique library magnifier, with a wonderful tactile feel and useful magnification. Ideal for the lepidopterist or reader. Delivered ready to use.

Search London Fine for #18.9448 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 11cm (4.25")

Max Depth: 11cm (4.25")

Max Height: 4cm (1.5")

Focus Raised Height: 6cm (2.25")

