

Large 6' 5" Wide Vintage Executive's Desk, Danish, Sibast Furniture, Circa 1970

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.9773

This is a large vintage executive's desk. A Danish, rosewood designer office table by Sibast Mobel to a possibly bespoke design, dating to the late 20th century, circa 1970.

Sibast Mobel was founded by Helge Sibast (1908 - 1985) a Danish craftsman with an eye for mixing tradition and international influence. A creative designer, he was installed as the head of design and product development at the family company at the time of his father's passing. Collaborating with fellow designer Arne Vodder in the 1960s, the company had a lot of export success to the United States and later worked with other designers on special collections.

- Utterly striking, generously sized and possibly bespoke - a superb example of Danish design

- Displays a desirable aged patina and presented in original, sun-kissed finish
- Select stocks show exceptional figuring to wide desktop and three part base
- Excellent colour presents warm russet and caramel hues throughout
- Superior proportion to the desk top at 6' 5" wide, with a useful depth of 3' 2"
- Wide knee-hole with a height of 68.5cm (27") affords comfortable use
- Shaped to fit the canted edge, the black ...
