

Vintage Recumbent Lion Figure, Continental, Bronze Animal Sculpture, After Barye

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.9828

This is a vintage recumbent lion figure. A Continental, bronze animal sculpture after Antoine-Louis Barye, dating to the late 20th century, circa 1970.

- Superb detail accentuates this substantial lion figure
- Displays a desirable aged patina and in very good order
- Lightly weathered bronze presents a palette of deep brown hues
- Good weight in the hand at a robust 6.52kg (14.37 lb)
- Exceptional character to the face, with a prominent, regal look
- Bountiful, bushy mane captured in a delightfully appealing manner
- Makers mark present for the Bronze Masters foundry
- After the works of Barye (1796 - 1875), a renowned animalier and sculptor
- Dressed to the base with a protective leather pad

This is a striking vintage recumbent lion figure, with incredible detail to the quality bronze form. Of great weight, lending itself to paperweight duty upon an executive desk, as well as prominent upon a mantelpiece. Delivered ready to display.
