

Antique Book, Birds Of The British Isles, English, Ornithology Reference, C.1920

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 24155

This is an antique illustrated book of The Birds of the British Isles. An English, bound ornithology reference title, dating to the early 20th century, published 1920.

Full Title - The Birds of the British Isles and their Eggs by Thomas Alfred Coward M.B.O.U. F.Z.S. F.E.S. (1867 - 1933); Second Series comprising Families Anatidae to Tetraonidae.

- Fascinating reference guide, charmingly illustrated with colourful studies
- Presented in a good antique order, intact and pleasingly clean
- Bound in a soft leather jacket, with gold titling and bird scene to cover
- 376 pages hosting descriptive text and 213 colour illustrations of species and their eggs
- Further enhanced with monochrome photographic reproductions of birds in the field

This is a charming antique illustrated book of The Birds of the British Isles, with superb colour studies of the subject matter. A treat for the ornithologist. Delivered ready to enjoy.

Search London Fine for #24155 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 12cm (4.75")

Max Depth: 3.5cm (1.5")

Max Height: 16cm (6.25")

