

Antique Life & Explorations of Dr Livingstone Book, African Travel, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 24214

This is an antique copy of The Life & Explorations of Dr. Livingstone. An English language African travel and history book, dating to the Victorian period, circa 1875.

A Victorian period explorer, missionary and physicist, David Livingstone was born on the outskirts of Glasgow, Scotland in 1813. Living until 1873, Livingstone's obsession with finding the source of the Nile as a means to end the slave trade in East Africa, led to further Christian missionary initiatives after his death. During his 1871 expedition, his meeting with author and explorer Henry M. Stanley (1841 - 1904) led to the famous greeting "Dr. Livingstone, I presume?"

- Presented intact, with a carefully aged appearance commensurate with gentle use
- Bound in original illustrated Morocco with gilt decor to front and rear cover
- Each of the 632 pages presented with delightful gilt edges
- Superb full colour frontispiece and title page, protected with paper insert
- Accentuated with a selection of lithograph illustrations with period scenes

This is a fascinating and appealingly bound copy of The Life & Explorations of Dr. Livingstone with a detailed and nicely illustr ...

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 25cm (9.75")

Max Depth: 5.5cm (2.25")

Max Height: 31cm (12.25")

LIST PRICE

£795.00

Search London Fine for #24214, or scan the QR code for more photos and details

+44 (0) 207 1833 511

London Fine Ltd
 The Antique Village
 The Old Whiteways Cider Factory
 Hele, Devon, EX5 4PW

sales@londonfine.co.uk
 E. & O. E.