

Antique Regimental Gong, German, Brass Ordnance, Oak, First World War, C.1916

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 24158
This is an antique regimental gong. A German, brass ordnance shell upon an oak base, dating to the First World War, engraved 1916.

- <li class="p1">Fascinating repurposed ordnance, in the manner of Trench Art
- <li class="p1">Displays a desirable aged patina, the shell casing bearing signs of action
- <li class="p1">Quality oak frame presents fine grain interest and medullary rays
- <li class="p1">Shell casing with a time worn appearance, lightly weathered throughout

- <li class="p1">Suspended beneath the frame, the gong strikes with a prominent sustain
- <li class="p1">Engraved to the top Patronenfabrik, Karlsruhe - Oktober 1916
- <li class="p1">Replete with a quality spherical cork striker upon a beech handle
- <li class="p1">Pleasingly substantial at 10.5 kg (23 lb), the shell alone weighing 5.81kg (12.8 lb)

This is a fascinating antique regimental gong, with a delightful presentation and use of genuine WWI ordnance. Solid joints and construction, delivered ready to enjoy.

Search London Fine for #24158 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 48cm (19")
Max Depth: 48cm (19")
Max Height: 41.5cm (16.25")

LIST PRICE

£985.00

