

Antique McDonald's Rotary Hat Iron, American, Nickel, Millinery Tool, Victorian

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 24551

This is an antique McDonald's rotary hat iron. An American, nickel and ebonised millinery tool in original box, dating to the late Victorian period, circa 1900.

- <li class="p1">Fascinating hat iron, presented with the original box and instruction leaflet

- <li class="p1">Displays a desirable aged patina and in very good order

- <li class="p1">Beautifully polished nickel plate presents bright tonality

- <li class="p1">Tactile handle, turned and ebonised for a deep black contrast

- <li class="p1">Heated for use, the iron is useful for smoothing out the nap of silk top hats

- <li class="p1">Engraved to the end of the iron for the countries in which it was patented

- <li class="p1">The handle cap states the date of the patent being granted - June 7th, 1892

- <li class="p1">Lightly time-worn box with an illustrated label, the supplied leaflet in superb order

Search London Fine for #24551 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Box Width: 25cm (9.75")

Box Depth: 6cm (2.25")

Box Height: 3.5cm (1.5")

Iron Width: 5cm (2")

Iron Depth: 3cm (1.25")

Iron Length: 24cm (9.5")

LIST PRICE

£395.00

