

Edwardian Armchair & Footstool, c.1910

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # LFA-1421 This is an antique, Edwardian armchair with later footstool. The generously deep seat, traditionally stuffed and well sprung offers a comfortable, cosseted place to relax. The chair frame is solid with rolled, scrolled arms and rides upon brass castors under half-bun feet to the front and square section rear legs. The later footstool lid opens to reveal storage within featuring a ruched pocket and straps to the underside of the lid. Both are covered in a golden damask fabric in reasonably good aged condition but could be recovered to suit any decor. Solid construction, delivered ready for the home.
